

Washington, DC--Today, Congressman Olver released the following statement on the FAA compromise:

“While I am pleased that the Senate, and in particular Majority Leader Reid, was able to find a solution to reactivate the FAA, it is embarrassing that House Republicans held up the process for so long and left town without offering any potential solutions,” said Congressman Olver. “Thanks to this compromise, construction workers at municipal airports across the country, including those in the First District, can finally get back to work,” Olver added.
